

My Mother's Locket

By Missy Cox Jones

These pictures are of my Mother and my Daddy. These were made from two miniature pictures that were in my mother's locket. They were about 1 inch tall, or maybe less.

My sister Maxine, who now lives in Austin, took this locket to a studio and asked them to take pictures of them, and she told them "whatever you do, do not take the picture out of the locket". They were so small, she was afraid they would lose the originals.

The frame in the picture is the gold rim around the locket. I think they are just beautiful, and a perfect addition to the story "Courtin' Back Then".
